

Mark your calendar for: Saturday, November 21

Start: 2pm GMT/9am EST | End: 8pm GMT/3pm EST

REGISTER NOW

This full day virtual conference is free and open to all public registrants
(Watch on demand is available for different time zones)

Julio Frenk

President, University of Miami
Ministry of Health, Mexico
(2000 -2006)

Trevor Gibbs

President of Association for Medical Education in Europe
(AMEE)

José Damián Carrillo

Universidad Anáhuac México
Health Science Faculty Dean

Felicia Knaul

Director, University of Miami
Institute for Advanced Study of the Americas

David Kopacz

University of Washington
Assistant Professor

Sue Stuart-Smith

NHS, UK
Consultant Psychiatrist

Join our virtual symposium New Realities in Times of COVID-19: A Humanistic Response, conducted in response to the urgent need to promote a humanistic vision during this global pandemic.

Facing one of humanity's greatest enemies in recent times, never has there been such a pressing need to promote international co-operation. Following reflection on the closure of borders, economies, and social isolation, we will present a united way forward, giving prominence and importance to the new reality in public health with special emphasis on mental health.

Key opinion leaders, scientists, and educators, will seek to present a comprehensive and integrative vision, aspiring towards the vision of refocusing life in society and a way forward for the medical profession to fundamentally refocus on human and humanistic principles for the benefit of everyone.

Join us on this new journey - together we will return the heart and soul to medicine.

In partnership with:

